3rd Circ. Partially Grants NJ Permits In Pipeline Fight

A Third Circuit panel on Wednesday upheld federal permits for Transco's $116 million pipeline upgrade in New Jersey, but said the state was wrong to think federal law preempted its power to hold adjudicatory hearings on the state's own permits, which must now be held. Read full article »

Monsanto Can't Round Up Chemical Docs From Advocacy Org

A New York judge handed a defeat to agrichemical giant Monsanto Co. on Thursday in its fight for documents from an advocacy group that has called for a halt on the use of glyphosate, the key ingredient in Monsanto's Roundup weed killer, with the judge saying the subpoena risked "chilling" free speech and political activity. EXPERT ANALYSIS

What The Arkema Indictment Means For Chemical Cos.

Last month, a Texas grand jury indicted Arkema Inc., its CEO and a plant manager for allowing a release of air contaminants during Hurricane Harvey. The indictment is legally significant because it represents a criminal prosecution for a safety incident that involved no fatalities or catastrophic environmental harm, say Benjamin Patton and Mary Balaster of Reed Smith LLP. New Emails Reveal Kavanaugh As Opinionated Bush Lawyer

In previously confidential records released Thursday, D.C. Circuit Judge Brett Kavanaugh called an affirmative action program a "naked racial set-aside," discussed whether Roe v. Wade is "settled law" and corresponded with a Republican Hill staffer later accused of misappropriating Democratic material while he was a White House lawyer in the early 2000s.
